

WHAT WE'RE ABOUT

Our Special Projects division focuses entirely on the construction of individually designed buildings, large extensions, and the repair and renovation of listed and historic buildings. Working primarily with architects and surveyors, we undertake contracts of between £100,000 and £1.5 million in value and within a 50-mile radius of Oxford. With a dedicated management team and experienced craftsmen, we're committed to producing the high calibre work that has been the hallmark of Kingerlee for over 140 years.

A CUSTOMISED SERVICE

Barn conversions, individual buildings, extensions...
Construction projects like these demand specific skills, knowledge and expertise. That's why we've established a dedicated division to meet these needs.

A TRADITION
OF QUALITY
SINCE 1868

SKILLED PEOPLE

At Kingerlee, we value our people. All members of our staff receive ongoing training to ensure we have both the traditional skills and modern techniques necessary to deliver great value service. Our emphasis on the personal and professional development of our staff was recently rewarded with Investor In People status.

BUILT TO LAST

Established in 1868, our family business has been providing high quality building around Oxford for five generations. Just like our construction projects, our company has been built to last. While our commitment to quality has never changed, we're continually developing our skills and technical knowledge to bring you the latest and best in building design and restoration.

Our expertise within the Special Projects division covers a broad range of projects, including new build and extensions, refurbishment, barn conversions, redecoration and roofing.

NEW BUILDS AND EXTENSIONS

Whether constructing an individually designed building or a sympathetic extension, we'll bring versatility and expertise to any project. Experienced in working with both state-of-the-art and more traditional materials, we're also at home with the latest ecofriendly products. We'll work together with you to identify the best materials and techniques for your particular project.

“Continually developing our skills and technical knowledge to provide a client focussed, professional service.”

ROOFING

With clients that include private individuals, companies, Parochial Church Councils and several Oxford colleges, we've acquired a wealth of expertise in roofing works in and around Oxford.

At home with both natural and man-made materials, we're also huge experienced in traditional as well as the very latest roofing methods. So whether your project involves renewing lead roofs on church towers, natural stone or slate coverings on historic buildings, general refurbishment or brand new roofing, we have the skill to take care of it.

HERITAGE

We appreciate that heritage needs to be treated with the utmost care. It requires knowledge and understanding of traditional materials and techniques- something in which we take great pride. We specialise in the repair and refurbishment of historic and listed buildings, working with both clients and conservation departments to restore heritage buildings to their former glory.
